Conference on Post-Putin Russia

Tuesday 21 November 2023

10am to 4.30pm | Level 13, 356 Collins Street, Melbourne 3000

Faces of Russian Resistance (www.politzk.com/en) is a series of exhibitions in different cities around the world about Russians who oppose the criminal Putin regime, and paid for it with their freedom. Our heroes are not only politicians who led an open struggle for the freedom of Russia. These are ordinary citizens who did not believe the false propaganda and did not accept the invasion of a neighbouring country. They are men and women, young and old, political activists, artists, scientists, students, fathers and mothers. They were all jailed for years, some of them — for decades.

The purpose of our exhibition is to tell Australians about the fate of Russian political prisoners, to attract the attention of Western society to severe violations of human rights in Russia, to ensure that the issue of the release of Russian political prisoners is included in any communications with the Russian authorities that are carried out or will be held in the future.

After its Australian premiere at the AIIA VIC Conference on Post-Putin Russia, the exhibition will be displayed at other venues in Melbourne, Sydney and potentially other Australian cities as well.
